They can proceed to register for such courses, either by re-registration or runtime redo.

Note:-

- Normal Supplementary: Students who have not exhausted the 4 attempts (Regular + 3 consecutive Supplementary attempts)
- 100 Supplementary: The clause, R.15.1, mentioned in the B.Tech. regulation 2023 regarding the supplementary examinations, will be applicable for all the students admitted prior to 2023 admissions also.

A Student, who has secured an 'F' grade in a course can register for supplementary examination with internal marks secured during the regular semester or can register for 100 marks supplementary examination where the internal marks will not be considered. If a student opts to register for 100 marks supplementary examination, and fails, then he/she should continue in 100 marks supplementary mode and can't revert to supplementary with internal marks. The only option after 100-mark supplementary exam attempt(s) is to reregister for the course whenever the course is offered by the respective department. This is applicable only for the theory courses (example: courses with L-T-P's: 1-0-0, 2-0-0; 2-1-0, 3-0-0; 3-1-0; 4-0-0)

All the Students, who are unable to register the supplementary courses under 100 supplementary category through AUMS, need to complete fee payment for the required supplementary courses and forward the fee paid details along with the course details to acadcoord@am.amrita.edu
